..LOCAL NEWS NOTES..

Death of Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Anne Walker, an old and highly respected lady, died at the home of her brother, Mr. Wm. Crume, four miles below town Sunday morning. Mrs. Walker had been in bad health for some time and recently mental troubles were added to her physical suffering, thereby shortening her life. The remains were interred on Cemetery Hill Monday.

Mrs. Walker's husband died some years ago and beside her brother she is survived by several children who live in Louisville.

Serious Accident.

Mr. R. A. McElroy has received news of quite a serious accident suffered by his wife last week. Mrs. McElroy is visiting her brother, Mr. James Bryth, in Iowa, and last week was being taken by him in his automobile to Den Moines. In the course of the journey in trying to avoid one rut in the road the chauffeur ran into another one, breaking the wheel and throwing the occupants of the car to the ground. Mrs. McElroy was the most seriously hurt, having her arm broken above the elbow. She was immediately given medical attention and is reported to be doing well.

The Sick.

Mrs. Polio Edelen, who was operated on several weeks ago at St. Joseph's Infirmary for gall stones, is now at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. W. T. Leachman, of this place, and remains in a critical condition.

Miss Mary Tong, who has been ill for a long time from typhoid fever, is greatly improved. Her brother, John A. Tong, is now ill, however, of the same disease.

Mrs. Will Greene, who has been quite ill at the home of her father, Mr. W. T. McMillan, for several weeks, is still very ill, and serious doubts as to her recovery are entertained.

Revival Closes.

The revival services, which had been in progress for two weeks, closed at the Christian church Sunday night. During the services sixteen converts were made. During the time that Rev. A. P. Finley, the evangelist, was here he preached to a large number of people, every service having been attended by audiences taxing the capacity of the auditorium. Mr. Finley is not only an earnest Christian but is also a scholarly and eloquent preacher, and many regret that he could not have remained here longer.

Court News.

Yesterday afternoon a jury in Judge Lacey's court found Hal Edelen not guilty of a breach of the peace preferred by Mary Eliza Harris, a sixteen-year-old colored girl. The evidence for the Commonwealth showed that Edelen's wife and the Harris girl were having some trouble at a party given at Hal's house Saturday, July 31, when Hal got into it and struck the girl several times with a piece of wood. The defendant stated that he had ordered the girl to leave because she was "speaking" with his son, a married man, but that she refused and afterward began fighting with his wife when he hit her. T. Scott Mayer represented the Commonwealth and W. F. Grigsby the defendant.

Joe Pope, of color, was tried in Police Court Monday morning on a charge of a breach of the peace. It was alleged by Debbie Stevenson, the chief witness for the prosecution that Joe had fought with and abused her. The defendant stated and apparently proved to the satisfaction of the jury that he was not the aggressor but that the fault was all Aunt Deb's. He was acquitted. W. D. Claybrooke represented the defense, while City Attorney W. F. Grigsby prosecuted.

DIED AT BALTIMORE

Well-known Turfman and Business Man Passes Away.—Had Many Friends Here.

The article appended hereto will be read with regret by many people of Springfield who knew Mr. Forsythe when he lived here some years ago and made his home with Mr. R. A. McElroy. Mr. Forsythe was then in the lumber business and made many friends while here:

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 7.—J. Will Forsythe, one of the best known of the younger business men of this city, and who, a few years ago, had a wide reputation as a turfman and breeder of horses, died to-day in Baltimore, Maryland, where he had gone to have an operation performed for a disease of the kidneys from which he had suffered for over a year.

Mr. Forsythe was 43 years old, was born in Shelby county, Ohio, and was the son of George Forsythe, a prominent business man of that section. About twenty-five years ago the family moved to this county and made their home. About ten years ago J. Will Forsythe became interested in thoroughbred horses and for several years was well known as a thoroughbred breeder and turfman. He bred Ballyhooy Bay, which won the Coney Island Futurity of 1900. He developed the colt as a yearling and sold him to the late W. C. Whitney for $12,000. He also sold Ballyhooy, the colt's dam, to Mr. Whitney for $11,500 and Ballyhooy Belle, a half-sister of Ballyhooy Bay, for a similar large price. He also bred and raced the good campaigner, Bella Commoner, Sweet Gretchen, Passion Flower and other well-known horses.

About six years ago Mr. Forsythe retired from thoroughbred breeding and racing and had since engaged in the business of buying and shipping hardwood timber, on which he was considered an authority, and in which business he became widely known in Central and Eastern Kentucky. He is survived by his wife, who was before her marriage to him Mrs. Nesbitt, of Shelby county, Ohio. Two brothers, Ernest and Samuel Forsythe, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Lous Rumsey, of Colorado Springs, Col., and Mrs. W. R. Woodward, of Washington Court House, O., also survive. Mr. Forsythe's body will be brought to this city, where the funeral and interment will probably be held Monday.

Birthday Dinner.

On last Sunday the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren had a surprise birthday dinner at the home of Woodson and Mary Arnold in Boyle county, it being Mr. Arnold's 70th birthday. At an early hour Sunday morning they began to gather and by 11 o'clock there were on hand thirty-seven in number. A most bountiful dinner was spread and everybody had a good time. Although Mrs. Arnold has been blind for twenty-six years yet she enjoyed what her children thought of her in her old age. She is the mother of Mrs. S. M. Campbell, of this place. Four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren were not present as they live in Indiana.

Notice to School Teachers.

The school teachers of Washington county are hereby notified to get the names of the school children who desire a free ticket to the Fair on the second day.

This matter must be attended to at ONCE in order to get the tickets issued before the Fair. Send the list of names to

THEO. CAMPBELL,
Secretary.

Cholera Infantum Cured.

"Something like two years ago my baby, which was then about a year old, was taken seriously ill with cholera infantum, vomiting and purging profusely, writes J. F. Dempsey, of Dempsey, Ala. I did what I could to relieve her but did her no good, and being very much alarmed about her went for a physician but failed to find one, so came back by Elder Brox & Carter's store and Mr. Elder recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I procured a bottle of it, went home as quickly as possible and gave the baby a dose of the remedy. It relieved her in fifteen minutes and soon cured her entirely." ## POWER OF THE COUNTRY PRESS

Leon Westmoreland, of Arkansas, in an address before the National Editorial Convention at Seattle recently, speaking of the "Country Newspaper," among many other good things said that "the country newspaper is greater in its place than the Metropolitan Dailies"—that the "country newspaper starts the fires of inspiration where the dailies would fall like a mist or shadow. Like a mighty alarm clock the country newspaper awakens the slumbering soul and encourages it to real efforts of indefatigable persistence which finally result in real progress and power." He quotes the following from a recent letter from William Jennings Bryan, in which he gives his opinion of the country newspaper. Mr. Bryan says:

"I am glad to commend the work of the country newspaper. At this time when the great dailies are becoming more and more business enterprises rather than exponents of opinion, and especially when a number of them have become the property of various predatory interests, the country newspaper increases in importance. It can be owned by the editor who edits it, and, therefore, has behind it a conscience and a character that can be identified. In the second place it is close to the people and can give voice to the sentiments of its readers. We have to rely more and more upon the country papers for the educational work that is necessary to a correct understanding of public questions.

"The country newspaper can obtain its news from the metropolitan daily, but it must do its own digesting and interpreting. There is a lot of difference between a man that writes what he is told to write and the man who writes when he believes he has a message to deliver to his readers.

"Very truly, W. J. Bryan."

Cooper Coomes Dead.

Bardtown Standard: Mr. Cooper Coomes, a prominent citizen of this community died on last Sunday at his home near Chaplin, his death resulting from a paralytic stroke on the Sunday previous. Mr. Coomes was aged about forty-seven years. The funeral services were conducted on Monday, August 2nd, at the residence by Rev. Father Pike, of Fairfield; interment was in the Chaplin cemetery. Deceased was an energetic, industrious, popular man, of a genial, friendly disposition, much interested in all the live issues of the day that tend to the advancement and interest of the people of his home community or elsewhere. At the time of his death Mr. Coomes was a member of the Nelson County Democratic Executive Committee. He leaves a wife and three sons to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father. The sons are Murphy, aged nineteen, Clyde, fifteen and Allen, aged ten years; three brothers, Frank, Jeff and William Coomes, of this county, and four sisters, Mesdames John and Neil Mataney and Miss Lizzie Coomes, of Louisville, and Mrs. Leonard Baker, of Springfield.

Teachers Wanted.

The demand for teachers who have been trained in the Western Normal is greater than the supply. The Fall Session opens September 7th. Write President H. H. Cherry, Bowling Green, Ky., for information relative to free tuition.

Washington Once Gave Up.

to three doctors; was kept in bed for five weeks. Blood poison from a spider's bite caused large, deep sores to cover his leg. The doctors failed, then "Bucklen's Arnica Ointment" completely cured me," writes John Washington, of Boqueronville, Tex. For eczema, boils, burns and piles it's supreme. 25c. at Haydon & Robertson's.

TREE PLANTING ON WASTE LAND

"Plant Trees on Waste Places" is the slogan which the American Forestry Association has adopted with a view to mending the awful waste which has characterized the treatment of our forested areas.

"If timber cutting and timber waste goes on at the present rate," said Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson the other day, who, among other things, is the president of the American Forestry Association, "and there is no forest planting in the meantime, we will, in twenty-five or thirty years, be a treeless nation."

Of course the United States will wake up some time on the subject of trees and forests. There appears to be considerable ethical interest throughout the country now, but when wood becomes as scarce and as high priced as it is in Germany, for instance, to-day, we can depend upon it that there will be a rush to plant forests, because trees will be of more crop value than wheat, even on the best wheat land. But it is on the waste, unused places—land that is not considered tillable, that should receive the first tree planting attention. There are vast areas of such lands in the aggregate, varying in extent from plots of a few acres to huge tracts. It would seem to be most unprofitable and certainly unpardonable for their owners to allow them to remain largely unproductive when they can be successfully planted to trees.

The time is not so far distant as the average man imagines when the increased price of lumber will make necessary the planting of trees even on good agricultural land. The price of timber lands is doubling every few years. Col. William S. Harvey, president of the Philadelphia Commercial Museum, an old-time lumberman, and who has been working for the passage by Congress of the Appalachian Forest Reserve Bill, tells me that within the past six years lands in the southern Appalachian timber regions have increased from $5 or $6 an acre to $15 and $20. Even at $20 and in spite of the fact that transportation is poor, this land is considered a "good buy."

But the man who gets in now and plants to trees any waste land is the man who will have a bank account all right when his forest begins to yield. It takes forty or fifty years to grow big logs; but it takes only twelve, fifteen or eighteen years to grow fenceposts, railroad ties and telephone poles, and the prices for these are increasing by leaps and bounds.

The Forest Service at Washington is issuing a lot of little leaflets, each descriptive of a tree species. If you have a waste acre, or ten of them, drop a line to Gifford Pinchot, chief forester, and you will get some advice that may be helpful. Part of your taxes—the direct ones—go to support the Government Forest Service. It is a most admirable institution, which ought to be twice as big as it is; but if you have a patch of land which should be in trees and which isn't, you ought to decide to plant it, and then go after the Government and get at least your share of return from your forestry taxes. And the Forest Service can tell you that tree planting does pay, not only on waste land, but even on good land, where other crops could be grown. How does the following statement of the growing of Catalpa posts and poles on the Yagzy plantation near Hutchinson, Kans., strike you? Catalpa may not be the most suitable tree for planting in your section, although it has a very wide range, but it is part of the business of the Forest Service to assist every farmer to know just which is the most profitable tree for his climate and land. In 1890 Mr. Yagzy planted eighty acres of Catalpa in rich soil. During the next twelve years the total cost of the project, including rent of land, planting, cultivating and even marketing, was $26.54 an acre. The value of the crop, however, was $315.81 an acre a net return of $288.67, or an average annual return of $21.55 per acre, and with very little work or worry. Catalpa posts and poles are the longest lasting, according to government foresters, of any wood in the country, and they are worth more to-day than they were in 1902, and they will be worth far more twelve years from today than they are now.

"The fact that it is going to take ten or fifteen years to get trees into marketable condition, shouldn't deter any one from beginning to plant. If he sells his farm, with a part of it in trees, half grown to ties or poles, that plantation, as a part of the farm will be worth and bring its real cash value just as when a man sells his farm with a crop of wheat or corn half made. G. E. M. From "The American Agriculturist."

GOOD ROADS

Extract From Address of H. A. Sommers Before Good Roads Association Meeting.

The following is an extract from a speech delivered by Mr. Harry A. Sommers at a meeting of the Kentucky Good Roads Association held recently at Paris:

"From a careful reading of reports from various State Roads Commissions and from the Public Roads Department of the United States Government, I am satisfied that the changing of a mud road to a good turnpike road increases the value of land alongside of it not less than 25 per cent. And I do not believe that you farmers in Bourbon county or anywhere else in this favored section would have your turnpikes go back to mud roads for 25 per cent of the present value of your farms."

Let me tell you that the Blue grass people live in revenue-paying counties largely because they have turnpikes. I have carefully gone over the Auditor's last report and I could name you ten Blue Grass counties which would not be revenue paying counties if they did not have turnpikes, and I could name you twenty non revenue paying counties which would yield more to the State Treasury than they draw out if they had turnpikes.

There is another reason why we should have State aid in Kentucky. And that is that Federal aid depends on State aid. The sentiment in this country is growing so rapidly from year to year that it is only a question of a very short time when the United States Government will appropriate many millions to aid in the construction of good roads. It is not necessary to discuss the wisdom or justice of this.

The roads are entitled to as much consideration as the rivers and harbors, and the farmers as much as the people who live in the cities. Several bills have been introduced into Congress carrying handsome appropriations to road building. Every one of them provides that the money shall be distributed only to states which grant aid. Adopt this amendment and Kentucky is in line to get its share of this money when it comes. Defeat this amendment and Kentucky is forever barred from sharing in Federal aid.

We want State aid to help counties which are too poor to build good roads without it; for the establishment of rural routes in these sections of the Commonwealth, and to put them in this way into close touch with the world. We may want State aid to help the cause of public school education. Many States have adopted the consolidated school district plan, where children are brought to school at county expenses. This is impossible except where there are good roads."

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Never Known to Fail.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1872, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out on a trip without this, my faithful friend," says H. S. Nichols, of Oakland, Ind. Ter. For sale by The Leo Hayden Drug Co.

It seems to J. F. Stone, a civil war veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me, in spite of all remedies, for years. My weight ran down to 120 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 175 pounds." ### Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15, were always subject to headache until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up since. I don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommended them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with La Grippe, and nearly crazy with awful headache. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with rheumatism in both sides, and I know he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept."

Laxative for Women Free

There is a great difference in the purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative. In fact, none other is needed by anyone weak or strong though they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the use of a violent one?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved vogue among women and children and old and young who must necessarily be careful of what they take. It is a liquid laxative, pleasant and admittedly the greatest stomach, liver and bowel remedy before the world. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, and it comes in both sizes. All druggists sell it. Its pleasant taste and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, sick headache, nervous and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future medication will be unnecessary. It cures the trouble by acting on the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they contract and relax naturally again. It is so the experience of many heads of families, like Mrs. Brannan, of Alvarado, Pa.; Mrs. E. L. Stout, of Louisville, Ky.; and numerous others in fact, way out in Illinois, Cal., as Mrs. J. E. Blackmore, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

If the remedy is new to you and you want to make a trial of it before buying, send your name to the doctor's address as below and a free test bottle will be sent you. Then, if results are satisfactory you can buy it of your druggist.

A court in Washington City recently fined a young man for disorderly conduct, the charge being that he had played the piano and sung after 12 o'clock. The judge said, "I want to impress upon you that playing the piano after this hour will not be tolerated in this city. We can't live in a city like this, all crowded together, unless everybody has some consideration for the rights of his neighbors."

Bless God for the wilderness; thank God for long nights; be thankful that you have been in the school of poverty and have undergone the searching and testing of much discipline. Take the right view of your trials. You are nearer heaven for the graves you have dug, if you have accepted bereavements in the right spirit; you are wiser for the losses you have bravely borne, you are nobler for all the sacrifices you have willingly completed.—Dr. Joseph Parker.

It is needful that we form definite plans and that we concentrate endeavor on specific ends. It is not always needful that we get what we seek, and if we are faithful to the light we have and work with a consecrated spirit, we may know that we can not fail; if we miss only to attain something higher and better. Duty is ours; results are God's. It is for us to plant and water; let God not only give, but elect what shall be the increase.—Christian Leader.

You say your grandma's dead, my leg, and you, bowed down with woe, to see her laid beneath the mold believe you ought to go; and so you ask a half day off, and you may have that same; alas, that grannies always die when there's a baseball game! Last spring, if I remember right, three grandmas died for you, and you bewailed the passing, then, of souls so warm and true; and then another grandma died—a tall and stately dame; the day they buried her there was a fourteen-inning game. And when the balmy breeze of June among the willows sighed, another grandma closed her eyes and crossed the Great Divide; they laid her gently to her rest beside the churchyard wall, the day we lammed the stuffing from the Rubes from Minneapolis. Go forth, my son, and mourn your dead, and send the scaling tear, and lay a simple wreath upon your eighteenth birthday; while you perform this solemn task I'll to the grand stand go, and watch our pennant winning team make soup-bones of the foe.—Walt Mason, in Louisville Times.

There are two ways of fighting fever. One is to dose the sick people with quinine and keep the fever down. The other is to drain the marshes, and purify the water, and cleanse the houses, and drive the fever out. Try negative, repressive religion, and you may live, but you will be an invalid. Try positive, vital religion, and you will be well.—Exchange.

"Coddling saints or capturing sinners; which should the preacher be doing?" is a striking way of putting a very practical question. The ministry is set for the edification of God's people, and for the proclamation of the truth. Unfortunately a good many of the saints have to be petted and run after and "coddled" to keep them in line. Where they expect too much of this it is a waste of time for the pastor to try to meet all their desires. The worst of it is that those who demand it get into the habit of expecting it and they grow mighty in their demands. It takes a wise pastor in such cases not to do much of it.—Presbyterian of the South.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO, Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MULES FOR FARM WORK.

Why a Breeder Considers Them More Desirable Than Horses.

All mules are good unless if properly treated, says a Tennessee breeder. And there is no necessity that any limitations of climate or latitude be placed upon them. When owned and managed by unjudged people on northern farms they are an satisfactory in that section as in Tennessee, Missouri or Texas.

Of course where large implements are used and weight is an important factor in a team small mules will not serve. But on the sugar plantations of the south mules sixteen to eighteen hands are common, and though they have less weight than the draft breeds of horses of the same height, they draw as big a plow and break as much land in a day as most of the heavy horse teams.

As to the cost of keeping, I am sure that they are at least 25 per cent less expensive. And in the matter of use on southern farms or any other where careless management may be detrimental, mules are far more desirable than horses.

Of course the efficiency of a team of mules in accomplishing farm work depends on the same factors as in the horse teams—that is, quick movement. The average plow mule may be slower than an average plow horse, but there is no need that it should be so. The training is what determines that. In most cases, and from my own experience I should say that it is as easy to have a quick stepping mule team as a horse team. If a cotton or sugar planter buys young mules and leaves their breaking to negro farm hands and along with slow, old horses or mules he will be sure to have a very slow walking team.

If they had a four mule team that belonged to a wagon or two plows did as much work as any team in the vicinity. I required that they were to be well treated, and they were as safe to use as accomplished as much work of any kind as the best horse team and cost a fourth less to feed. And another important fact—when I parted with the mules at twelve or thirteen years old they seemed to be really in their prime. It is seldom that horses prove as durable.

Protecting Horses From Flies. To keep flies from horses take two or three small handfuls of green walnut leaves. Over them pour two or three quarts of soft cold water. Let this stand one night and pour the whole next morning into a bottle. Allow it to boil about fifteen minutes. When cold it will be ready to use. Nothing more is necessary than to saturate a sponge before starting out with the team from the stable and with the liquid go over those parts which are most affected.—Farm Journal.

THE VETERINARY

The following is an old fashioned remedy for caked udder: Rub soft soap on the affected part until a lather is formed. Repeat several times or until the hardness disappears.

Destroying Cattle Ticks. Where ticks are found on cattle a sure way to get rid of them is to go over the cattle with a sponge well moistened with crude petroleum. Repeat when necessary until all ticks are destroyed.

Potatoes For Worms. If horses or colts have worms try feeding them raw potatoes sliced. You will probably have to mix the potatoes in with the grain at first to get the horses to eat them. A few raw potatoes each week are good for a horse at any time.

Caring For Nail Wounds. When a horse picks up a nail be sure to cut out a funnel shaped cavity as deep as the wound and make it bleed all it possibly will. Then use a wash of water that is strongly scented with carbolic acid several times and keep the foot packed with oakum.

Cause of Reddish Milk. Bloody or reddish milk may be caused by blows on the udder or by inflammation from other causes and is not uncommon in summer, when a small accession of rich food may induce local congestion, with increased flow of milk. Law says, "If the discolored milk is caused by congestion a saline laxative, followed with niter, a restricted diet and frequent bathing of the udder with very cold water is useful."—Dr. Michener in Farm Journal.

The following editorial was taken from the Taylor County Enquirer of date, August 5:

Mr. John W. Lewis will have many things to explain when he begins campaigning in the dear old counties of Washington, Marion, Taylor and Green. Since he began to dabble in politics and law—since he began, strenuously, to exercise his free citizenship and free speech—he has done and said many things that, to say the least, look awkward and sound unreasonable; therefore the people have a right to expect and demand an explanation, now that he desires employment in the public service.

The things that Mr. Lewis has done and said may be the "children of honest dearies"—that is, he may have done and said these things believing that he was honestly serving the people, and we who love justice and hate ingratitude, would not too severely condemn him until he "explains" from the stump, these awkward and unreasonable matters that now incense the minds of the people against him.

The voters of the counties of Taylor and Green—especially of the county of Green—would have Mr. Lewis explain among other things, "the why and the wherefore" of his suit in the Green Circuit Court in which he demands against the taxpayers of that county more than thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) for an alleged service in connection with the C. & O. Railroad bonds issued by Green county. Since the Supreme Court of the United States has declared that the bonds were valid, an explanation is certainly due from Mr. Lewis to the voters of Green county, in simple justice to them as well as to their wives and children.

In these two counties of Taylor and Green the people have been under an enormous burden for many years, and there are few men acquainted with the circumstances attending that bond issue and subsequent developments, who do not sympathize with the poor, struggling taxpayers of those counties.

The honest farmers of Green and Taylor counties have resorted to every legitimate means to relieve themselves of this very peculiar and miserable burden. The Green county people employed Mr. Lewis to fight the matter in the courts; subsequent events indicate that the employment was an unfortunate one. He has come back to the people of Green county empty handed, with no word of cheer, or hope, for a brighter day. And yet he has used the county for $30,000.00, a sum he contends is not too large for an alleged service that brought no benefit. He insists in that excitable and threatening manner that is distinctly his, that the downtrodden and heartbroken taxpayers pay to him the fabulous sum of $30,000.00 for his unfruitful words before the tribunals of the county.

THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS: Think about it! A kingly ransom from the faded jeans of the toilers of Green county! A reaching out, as it were, with the hand of avarice to grasp the penny purse of the toiler.

What will Mr. Lewis say when the citizens of Green county interrogate: "Why do you try to take from me the meager savings coiled from the sweat of my throbbing brow, to contribute to a fund of $30,000.00 to be turned over to you as pay for a service you did not render? What will he say to the good housewife when she says to him: "You would force me to turn over to you my life savings—savings that came, penny at a time, through unceasing toil, by night and by day, through the sunshine and the rain; you would relieve me of these savings without offering a promise for the future—a gleam of hope in the light of which I might see a small chance that, in some distant day, an unjust burden would be lifted from my humble home."

To pay Mr. Lewis this $30,000.00—this princely ransom—would mean many cruel hardships on the people of Green county. The new suit of clothes, the new dress, and not a few of the ordinary comforts of the humblest home would be beyond the reach of many a poor man's family. The good mother's heart would ache for the little boy when she called him in the early hours of the morning from his slumbers to send him forth to toil for Mr. Lewis in the blazing heat of the summer sun, or the bitter cold of winter; when he would return to her with the shadows of evening, his little head throbbing and his thin limbs weak with weariness, there would come from the very depths of that mother's soul the wailing cry: "Great God! what manner of man is this who placed the heavy yoke upon the neck of infancy?"

Mr. Lewis would collect $30,000.00 from the poor people of Green county, though in doing it he brings gaunt desolation to many homes, in order that he might add more luxuries to his palatial home in Springfield. And on what ground does he make this demand of the pound of flesh?

Some years ago several suits against the county were instituted upon bonds and coupons: Mr. Lewis secured a contract to defend these suits, and any others that might be brought, on a contingent fee of five per cent. of what he might save the county in such suits, or that might be controlled and settled by the successful defense of the suits.

In 1906, while the test cases were still pending, awaiting final decision in the United States courts, Mr. Lewis assumed that the suits were as good as won, and although his fee was to be contingent upon final success, brought suit against the county to enforce immediate payment of $30,000.00, being five per cent. of all the bonds, $500,000.00 and all the accrued interest on bonds and coupons, making an aggregate of $227,000.00; he gave credit for $750.00 and demanded judgment for $30,000.00.

He has kept this suit on the docket, from term to term, even though the test cases were finally decided against the county, his defense against the bonds was unsuccessful, and judgment in those particular cases has been rendered for $197,913.72. In June, 1909, Mr. Lewis, after these judgments in the test cases, filed an amended petition in the Green Circuit Court in which he generously offered to dismiss his claim to commissions on that $197,913.72 and again demanded judgment for five per cent. on all the remainder, $229,176.28, which would make his fee now claimed only $21,458.81 for saving the county nothing.

At the same time that this amended petition was filed he made a motion for a continuance of the suit until the next term—until after the election.

When the attorneys for the county made a motion to have the case tried before a jury, he was so afraid the trial might come before the election, and his demands be publicly exposed, that the amended petition was immediately withdrawn. Later, however, on the same day, it was again filed, the same motion for a continuance being made, and the motion by the county for a trial by jury, and the whole matter, on his most earnest pleading, continued until the next term.

He has not abandoned his claim; he doesn't want the people of Green county to know just what he is demanding of them until after the election, he does not want a jury to decide his case.

In spite of Mr. Lewis, and his efforts to postpone a hearing on his suit until after the election, a jury of all the voters of Green county will, in November next, have an opportunity of saying, and they will say in thunder tones, that they do not want such a man to be their Circuit Judge for six years; that if they must protect themselves from his grasping avarice they prefer to fight him as a private individual and not as the presiding officer of the tribunal in which the contest is to come up.

A Word to the Farmers.

The farmers of the blue grass counties, at great risk to themselves, raised the price of tobacco in 1906 from six cents to nine and a half. From nine and a half to sixteen cents in 1907, and in 1908 cut out their crop because the American Tobacco Company claimed to have a seven years surplus on hand. That surplus is used up and the 1907 crop sold at seventeen cents per pound. And now when it is all over out the shouting, the farmers of Washington county join hands with the American Tobacco Company in a Loose Leaf Market to oppose these same farmers, claiming they can get twelve cents per pound in this way.

With seventy-five per cent. of the Burley people pooled we can demand any price. Say we demand only eighteen cents; that would bring into Washington county this year $300,000 more than it sold at twelve cents.

If farmers are as anxious to make prices as to take them they will get into one of the organizations at once or make one of their own. The latter would perhaps be better, as you might choose a president from your own ranks who would work for farms instead of salary.

A number of the farmers of Washington county are now busy cutting tobacco. The tobacco crop this year ripened earlier than usual and some tobacco was cut the latter part of last month.
There is a large crop in this county this year and it is to be hoped that it will be good, as the tobacco crop means a great deal to Washington county.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Sweet Cucumber Pickles.

Slice the cucumbers and lay in strong brine for three days, then drain and lay in fresh water for a day. Line a kettle with grape leaves and arrange the cucumbers in it in layers, strewing a pinch of alum over each layer. Cover with cold water, put over the top layer of cucumbers three layers of the grape leaves, fit on the lid and steam the pickles at the side of the range for six hours. Drain and throw into cold water and when firm drain again and pack into jars. Fill each jar with boiling vinegar that has been seasoned with a cupful of sugar to each quart, eight black peppers, eight whole cloves, six blades of mace and six allspice. Seal the jar while still overflowing. Set aside several months to ripen before using.

Profuse Perspiration.

Some of its most unpleasant effects may be allayed by bathing the parts affected with a lotion made of one part of boracic acid to twenty of hot water. Boracic acid in the form of powder may also be dusted on the skin and will be found a valuable agent in overcoming the trouble. Sleeves which are too tight, either along the arms or in the armpits, frequently occasion excessive perspiration of the hands. For the latter use a spoonful of ammonia in the rinsing water and then before putting on gloves bathe the palms with the following solution: Powdered alum, one-half an ounce; boiling water, one pint; spirits of ammonia, one teaspoonful.

Spiced Celery.

Fifteen ripe tomatoes, five bunches of celery, two cupfuls of sugar, one and a half cupfuls of vinegar, one tablespoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of mustard, one teaspoonful of ground cloves, one teaspoonful of ground allspice, one teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, one teaspoonful of celery seed and one good sized red pepper. Chop the celery, peppers and tomatoes together, then mix all the ingredients and boil slowly one and a half hours. This will be found delicious with any kind of meat and will keep well if sealed up in bottles with paraffin melted over the cork.

Handy Picture Hanger.

Illustrated herewith is a handy picture hanger that can be adjusted to fit any size of frame. The device is of wire and the body has a loop at the top by which it can be hung on a nail. The legs flare outward and have supporting hooks for feet, and the single arm, bent at right angles at the elbow, has a hook at the top. The picture frame rests on the feet and is kept in place by the arm, which can be moved up and down the body so that it can be adjusted to almost any size picture. The trouble of measuring wire and gauging it so that the picture hangs flat is obviated, as the device described is so made that the body rests flat against the wall for its whole length and keeps the picture at a proper angle.

ADJUSTABLE TO ANY FRAME.

Washing Tinted Fabrics.

To wash delicately tinted fabrics and have them retain their color make a large panful of this flour starch. When sufficiently cool take one-half of the starch to wash the garment in, rubbing carefully by hand, and when all the soil has been removed rinse in the clean portion of starch and hang in the shade to dry.

Mending Table Linen.

A neat way to mend a hole in table linen is to darn it with linen threads off an old tablecloth. It will look much neater than a patch sewed on. It is advisable to keep a piece of a discarded tablecloth in the mending basket for that purpose.

For Aching Feet.

Bathe feet in very little water with a good deal of yellow bar soap—common bar soap—or rub a little soap on the feet for awhile. Do not wear black hose unless they have white feet.

To Iron Pongee.

When ironing any article made of pongee from it without first sprinkling it and you will find it looks far newer and slicker than when dampened and ironed in the usual manner.

MR. BRYAN'S PLANS

In response to repeated demands, coming from every section of the United States, Mr. Bryan will conduct a vigorous campaign of education through The Commoner, and assist in the organization of "An educational club in every precinct." These clubs will promote the work of education among the voters on all political questions affecting the American people.

To advance this educational plan, each issue of The Commoner will contain a special article on some pertinent political subject, designed to present, in an easy way, authentic historical information, to give valuable statistical data, to carefully analyze the opposing arguments, and to discuss their application to present-day conditions.

The following subjects, and others, upon which all Americans should be accurately informed, will be discussed:

The Tariff (by schedules as it affects the individual); Postal Savings Banks; Imperialism; Capitalism; The Rights of the States; State-Wide Primary Laws; Inheritance Tax; Initiative and Referendum; Russell of Public Officials; Compensation of Government for Cities; The Trust Question; Regulation of Railroads and Other Corporations; Popular Election of Senators; Income Tax.

This series will afford a vast fund of political information for any citizen regardless of party affiliation, provide excellent material for all students of economic questions, and will be a veritable compendium of politics for schools and debating societies.

FREE BOOKS FOR EVERYONE

The Commoner, to start this campaign of education, and to place this series of articles in the hands of as many voters as possible, will give FREE books, regular selling price $1. Given FREE for club of five names at $1 each. Regular $1 full leather edition, for 1 name, regular $4 full Morocco Edition, for 5 names.

THE STATE FAIR

Kentucky People All Agog

A HANDSOME PRIZE LIST

Thirty Thousand Dollars Offered in Prizes for Week of September 13th to 18th.

Details of Some of the Chief Attractions to Be Presented This Year.

Thirty thousand dollars makes a very handsome prize list. This amount will be offered at the seventh annual Kentucky State Fair, which is scheduled for the week of September 13th to 18th, inclusive. The marvelous piece of work accomplished in the incomparably short time of three months last season, in which the largest, most useful and most beautiful show pavilion in the world, and a permanent grand stand of steel and concrete construction were erected, a model half mile race track was built, and some forty or more buildings of a more temporary nature, for the housing of all livestock, agricultural, horticultural exhibits, etc., were completed, is fresh in the minds of those who witnessed last year's exhibition. With the addition of beautiful road ways, flower beds and installation of electric lights in the pavilion for the use of horse show and hippodrome performances in the evening, the grounds will present a grander and more brilliant spectacle this year. In nearly every department, the number of classes have been increased and more liberal prizes are offered. This is especially true in the beef, cattle and poultry departments, in each of which the total money offered is probably thirty per cent larger than last year.

The special prizes are much more attractive, and represent a greater value than ever before. The honor and prestige of winning many of these trophies is infinitely greater than the intrinsic value of the prize itself. The special prizes include the "Highland Home" cup, which is donated by Gay Bros. of Paducah, Ky., for the best and finest saddle bred foal of 1909; the American saddle horse breeders' association trophy for registered stallion or mare three years old or under; the Montgomery chief special of $125 offered by Ball Bros., Versailles, Ky., for the finest and best stallion, mare or gelding any age by Montgomery Chief; the $1,000 Kentucky farmer saddle horse trophy for saddle bred foals of 1909, the only saddle horse trophy in existence, which closed April 1st with 225 nominations; the commissioner of agriculture saddle horse special, value at $200 for the best five gaited saddle stallion, mare or gelding three years old or over; a handsome cup for the champion rooster, given by Mr. Basil Doerhoefer of Louisville; the Dr. McChord cup for the best herd of jack stock offered by Mr. W. P. Hayes of Bloomfield, Ky.; the grand silver trophy offered by the American Berkshire Swine Association for best yearling of Berkshires exhibited by Kentucky breeder, which is the coveted honor of the show among Berkshire breeders in every state; an aggregate sum of nearly $400 given by Commissioner Rankin for all the leading standard varieties of poultry; a silver cup donated by Mr. F. H. Behr for the best exhibit of Kentucky bred poultry; specials by the Southern Hampshire and Oxford Sheep Record Association for exhibits of pure-bred sheep they respectively champion; and the American Angus Cattle Breeders' Association special for the best flock of registered Angus kids.

In the cattle departments the money consideration for specials is the greatest and the classification most extensive. The American Shorthorn Breeders' Association and the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' Association have each donated $750 for pure bred cattle of these respective breeds; one-half to be given in open competition and one-half to cattle owned by Kentucky exhibitors. These offers were made on condition that the State Fair management would set apart $1,000 in premiums for each of the breeds, which was done, thereby making a total of $1,750 for each breed. This is the largest amount ever offered for either Shorthorn or Hereford at the state fair or exposition south of the Ohio river, and perhaps equals the aggregate prize money at any exhibition in America this year in specials for the breeding of the national breed shows. The Polled Durham Association of America renews its offer of $100 in special prizes for Polled Durhams. The American Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association, for the first time in several years, comes forward with a very liberal offer of $200 in specials for its breed. As a very gratifying innovation in the prize list, the Dairy Cattle Department contains some valuable specials. Through the generous liberality of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, the State Fair management has been enabled to double the amount of prize money for this dairy breed aid to place its classification almost on a par with the Jersey, which has been the favorite dairy breed in the south ever since its importation to this country, and the Kentucky Jersey cattle club will give a cup valued at $50.00 for the best Jersey herd of one bull and four heifers under one year old, bred by a Kentucky exhibitor. There are also numerous specials offered by Hon. M. C. Rankin, commissioner of agricultural departments, the most prominent of which are for county exhibits, $150,000 being offered for the best and largest display of farm, garden and orchard products. This has been a very interesting and educational feature at many of the leading state fairs for a number of years and will undoubtedly prove a success and boon to agricultural interest of Kentucky.

Superintendents of Departments at the Kentucky State Fair.

As usual most experienced and capable superintendents of departments have been appointed. R. H. Lillard, of Lawrenceburg, has for the third time been chosen superintendent of the horse department; and William Simmons, of Shepherdsville, will again be in charge of the mule exhibit. W. R. Moorman, Jr., of Glendale, is superintendent of beef cattle and Edgar Vaughn, of Shelbyville, will for the eighth consecutive year be superintendent in the dairy cattle department. Other superintendents reappointed, are Colonel H. L. Igleheart, of Morganfield, swine department; W. H. Middleton, of Shelbyville, sheep and goats; John H. Good, of Louisville, poultry and pigeons; H. C. Lovelace of Boston, field seed and grain; H. M. Provan, of Ghent, tobacco; Miss Evelyn Porter, of Louisville, woman's department; G. P. Rogers, of Smithland, farm implements and machinery; Prof. J. J. Hooper, of Lexington, students' judging contest, and H. L. Smyer, of Lyndon, speed department. Chas. Sholtz, Jr., of Louisville, is superintendent of vegetables and melons; Henry S. Adams, Eminence, of Horticulture; W. E. Bibb, North Pleasureville, of plants and flowers, and Lucien Becker, Winchester, of minerals and forestry. The assistant superintendents have also been named: for poultry and pigeons, W. B. Buford, of Nicholasville, and Robert H. Young, of Louisville; for vegetables and melons, J. A. Pease, Livia; for field seed and grain, Geo. D. Karsner, of Lexington; for horticulture, M. F. Johnson, of Buechel; for woman's department, Miss Eva McGraw, of Bayou, and Miss Alice Porter, of Louisville.

Heads of Departments of the Kentucky State Fair.

There are eighteen exhibit departments, which have been placed under the head of the various members of the state board of agriculture as follows: M. C. Rankin, of Frankfort, poultry and pigeons, plants and flowers and students' judging contest; Prof. M. A. Sovall of Lexington, beef cattle, dairy cattle and colts; G. N. McGrew, of Bayou, woman's department, farm implements and machinery, manufactured products; H. M. Beard, of Hardinsburg, sheep and goats and vegetables and melons; G. H. Wilson, of Bradenton, horses, mules and jack stock, speed department; Caldwell Norton, Louisville, swine; Desha Breckenridge, Lexington, education and art; William Adams, Cynthiana, field seed and grain and tobacco; Fred R. Blackburn, Stanton, horticulture, forestry and minerals.

Kentucky State Fair Races.

Horse racing will be a greater attraction, than ever at the State Fair this year. At last year's fair it was demonstrated that a successful harness race meeting could be held on these grounds. The popularity of the sport was never more pronounced. The unusually fast time was made on the new half-mile track which has come to be regarded as one of the best half-mile courses in America. At the most interesting last year the grand stand and the grounds adjacent to it were thronged by a surging mass of humanity every afternoon eager to see every horse in every race, and not until the summary of the last race was hung up did the interest cease or enthusiasm dwindle.

The Kentuckians by nature has a fondness for horse racing. An opportunity for seeing his favorite sport will not be denied him at this year's fair. The early closing events show the largest list of entries ever recorded at the State Fair. These events are known as the Louisville Retail Merchants Association stake for 2:21 pacers, the Louisville Commercial Club stake for 2:20 trotters, and the Kentucky Brewers Association stake for 2:20 trotters. In addition to the stake races, there will be six purse and four gentlemen's road races. Purse races close Sept. 9th. Entries for the cup race at twelve o'clock noon, the day before the race. The stake races will be of the three in five heat plan, and the purse races on the two in three heat plan. There will also be two running races each day. This is destined to become one of the most popular training tracks in the country. This meeting fits into a very convenient circuit by following the Indiana State Fair and proceeding the Tennessee State Fair, which is the initial meeting of the southern circuit of fairs and trotting meetings. The success of this year's meeting is already assured by the excellent list of stake entries, and the management is quite confident that all the purse races will fill satisfactorily. Proposed.

Kentucky should have a big life insurance company. It is the first Southern State to offer to policyholders the guarantee of a compulsory reserve deposit law. The statute now in effect was enacted March 24, 1906. It provides that every domestic life insurance company must deposit with the State Treasurer for the security and benefit of all its policyholders, an amount equal or greater than the ascertained net cash value of all such company's policies in force. It is worthy of note that the men who fought for this law were the

Yet the South pays out enough money each year in premiums for life insurance to equal the amount of the greatest banks in the world in the South.<sup>14</sup>

The business associates and the friends of Mr. Gregory, Mr. Helm Bruce, Mr. Charles D. Pearce and the other gentlemen who are striving industriously for the success of this great enterprise have confidence in their ability to carry it out. Kentucky will apparently have every good reason to pride herself on being able to furnish the home for the company. But greatest good will come to the largest number by people of the South being as good as they would claim to be, most honest and most enterprising, destined to go through generations to come as a monument erected to Southland development and enterprise.
